Instead of:

Interested operators may participate in the consultation according to the procedures shown in the public notice published on the following link: www.nucleco.it

Specifically, for the purpose of participating, an expression of interest (EOI) is required to be sent to Nucleco's public certified e-mail address (avisopubblico@nucleco.it) only using the specific form annexed to the public notice, duly completed and signed using digital signature.

Nucleco will send the documentation supporting the preliminary market consultation, outlining Nucleco's requirements to those operators that have sent an EOI.

Once the preliminary consultation support documentation has been received, interested economic operators are required to send a technical-operational proposal for the treatment of solid and liquid radioactive wastes, without any specification of the economic aspects, to the Nucleco e-mail address (avisopubblico@nucleco.it) by and no later than the final date of 30 November 2021, duly signed using digital signature.

The documentation which will be submitted must not exceed 30 pages and is required to show in a clear, satisfactory and exhaustive manner the technical-industrial process for the treatment, in whole or in part, of the wastes for which treatment is required.

For the purpose of gaining more comprehensive information on the procurement contract in question, Nucleco will organise an online webinar on the Microsoft Teams platform, in a single session, on 22/11/2021, the access instructions for which will be communicated to all operators that will have expressed their interest (EOI and signed the ND commitment) no later than 48 hours prior to the session.

The outcome of the screening and answers to questions will be published in anonymous form on the portal www.nucleco.it.

The contributions requested from economic operators participating in the preliminary market consultation are understood to be made free of charge and operators will not be able to forward specific bids for the activities for which the consultation process has been called which may alter the regular competitive development of the subsequent award procedure.

The individual participating economic operators are required to indicate any information and/or parts of the technical documentation submitted covered by technical-trade secrets, specifying whether disclosure of the contributions provided is required to be anonymous.

Nucleco will not share or disclose the subject matter of the documentation that has been expressly classified by the interested parties as covered by trade secrets. Participants are required to also indicate any other information useful for reconstructing the position of the economic operator in the market and know-how with specific reference to the treatment of radioactive, solid and liquid wastes, of non-energy origin.

Nucleco reserves the right to submit further questions to all, or certain participants.

In any case, participation in the preliminary consultation shall not give rise to the right to any remuneration and/or.
